All Along the Western Front an art installation by TYLER KOHLHOFF
Closing Celebration and Free Performance by Hair Envelope, Tin Can Tobacco Band
[at] CoCA in Ballard Friday February 20th

In an installation which complicates our sense of place and comfort in the American West, emerging artist Tyler Kohlhoff presents All Along the Western Front, an engaging and challenging meditation on power, landscape, and modern material culture.

Navigating the vacant habitats of the American West, his images mounted to large-scale found fluorescent light fixtures, glow with an eerie seduction. Clustered on the walls by geographic location and organized to mimic an oversized circuit the exhibit reflects the tension and uncertainty of a movement to identify, inhabit and conquer this topographical other.

Kohlhoff presents a physical and psychological journey; confronting the complexities and contradictions of living in a place one does not entirely understand.
